Caroline Center Receives a Generous Grant from Bank of America

The Bank of America Charitable Foundation has awarded Caroline Center and 13 other local nonprofit organizations a total of $231,000 in grants to support training and employment opportunities for young people, veterans, people with disabilities, and people who are either underemployed or unemployed.

“Supporting nonprofit organizations that connect people to jobs and skills is part of our effort to help improve the financial lives of individuals and customers in the communities we serve,” said David Millman, Maryland and Baltimore market president, Bank of America. “A trained workforce ensures we remain competitive in an increasingly complex and competitive global economy and strengthens the economic health of the Baltimore community.”

The Bank of America Charitable Foundation is awarding more than $22 million in grants to more than 1,050 nonprofits that support workforce development and education initiatives. The grants, which focus on low- and moderate-income communities that have been hardest hit in the economic downturn, focus on addressing strengthening employment and housing opportunities as well as alleviating hunger.
