Caroline Center Attends the “Women’s Economic Agenda Forum”

Caroline Center Executive Director Patricia McLaughlin, SSND, recently attended the “Women’s Economic Agenda Forum” sponsored by the Baltimore Chapter of the Younger Women’s Task Force, an affiliate of the American Association of University Women.

House Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi and Maryland 3rd District Congressman John Sarbanes attended the forum, which was held on Saturday, July 26, 2014, at the Maryland Women’s Heritage Center in Baltimore, where Nancy Pelosi spoke about ways “to unleash the power of women in our economy and in our politics.”

At the forum, Sister Pat shared with Nancy Pelosi the new publication, What It Takes, which highlights Caroline Center’s program and presents the SSND-sponsored work through an original blend of spoken-word poetry, documentary-style photography, personal stories, and essential workforce development facts and figures.
